PLAYER DESCRIPTION

Alex Purver is an intelligent, hardworking central midfielder who possesses outstanding technical and tactical attributes. A true model professional with elite fitness levels, Alex has the ability to control a game from midfield in all phases of the game. Very strong in defensive duels, he also dictates the tempo of a game with an excellent range of accurate passing. Due to his coaching background, he is a real leader both on and off the pitch. He enhances the performances of players around him with smart organisation and communication. His excellent tactical knowledge and game understanding have been described as "like having an extra coach on the pitch". Alex has been a valued member of every team he has been a part of, not just for his performances on the pitch, but for what he has been able to add in building a positive winning team environment.
